Community Foundation of Greensboro Announces Grants
$95,000 Will Support Nonprofit Community Programs

Greensboro, NC – The Community Foundation of Greater Greensboro (CFGG) is pleased to announce grant awards to ten local nonprofits addressing key community-wide issues. CFGG’s 2022 Community Grants Program is investing $95,000 in the areas of arts and culture, food insecurity, economic mobility, housing, and youth and education programs.

“This year, we made an intentional shift in our grantmaking to support the operations of nonprofits so that they can focus on delivering the services and programs our community needs,” says Athan Lindsay, Vice President of Grants and Community Impact for CFGG. “The diversity of our grantees is also by design. As Greensboro grows and evolves, we as a foundation that serves a diverse community must also learn and adapt our philanthropy.”

Six out of ten of the grant recipient organizations are woman-led and seven out of ten are minority-led.
